

CureVac CEO Alexander Zehnder Acquires Common Shares of Company Stock

TÜBINGEN, Germany/BOSTON, USA – January 17, 2024 – CureVac N.V. (Nasdaq: CVAC) (“CureVac”), a global biopharmaceutical company developing a new class of transformative medicines based on messenger ribonucleic acid (“mRNA”), today announced that its Chief Executive Officer, Alexander Zehnder, recently purchased 50,000 common shares of CureVac stock.

“The latest results from our Phase 2 COVID-19 vaccine development program in collaboration with GSK have again underlined the enormous potential of our proprietary mRNA technology,” said Dr. Alexander Zehnder, Chief Executive Officer of CureVac. “We are building a strong clinical pipeline for prophylactic vaccines and are increasing our footprint in cancer immunotherapy. My purchase shows my continued commitment to the company and confidence in the value of our differentiated mRNA technology, which puts CureVac at the forefront of a scientific revolution that holds immense potential for improving the health of people and patients.”

About CureVac

CureVac (Nasdaq: CVAC) is a global biopharmaceutical company in the field of messenger RNA (mRNA) technology, with more than 20 years of expertise in developing, optimizing, and manufacturing this versatile biological molecule for medical purposes. The principle of CureVac’s proprietary technology is the use of optimized mRNA as a data carrier to instruct the human body to produce its own proteins capable of fighting a broad range of diseases. In July 2020, CureVac entered in a collaboration with GSK to jointly develop new products in prophylactic vaccines for infectious diseases based on CureVac’s second-generation mRNA technology. This collaboration was later extended to the development of second-generation COVID-19 vaccine candidates, and modified mRNA vaccine technologies. Based on its proprietary technology, CureVac has built a deep clinical pipeline across the areas of prophylactic vaccines, cancer therapies, antibody therapies, and the treatment of rare diseases. CureVac N.V. has its headquarters in Tübingen, Germany, and has more than 1,100 employees across its sites in Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland and the U.S. Further information can be found at www.curevac.com.
